

Critical Illness Premium Holiday

Take advantage of this VERY RARE opportunity!

Not very often do Insurance Companies have any type of promotion but in light of the holiday season and based on our current economic times, Great-West Life has just announced that they will waive 2 months premiums on a Critical Illness policy applied for from now until the end of 2009.

We all know someone whose life has been affected by a heart attack, stroke or cancer. The good news is that advances in medical science means there is a better chance of surviving a critical illness than ever before. However, a critical illness often brings overwhelming medical and financial burdens.

- Nearly a 50/50 chance YOU will benefit from this insurance
- Offer ends Dec 31, 2009
- 2 months of coverage at no charge (after policy is in force and initial payment has been made)
- Don't delay! Age, or health may effect the ability to qualify for coverage later.

When you insure against a critical illness today you help protect yourself, your family, and your business from the financial and emotional impact of a critical illness.

If you are interested in this limited time offer please give our office a call.

Merry Christmas!
